Inverness Golf Course Fact Sheet

The Inverness Golf Course, designed in 1974 by Preston Maxwell, is a tight, rolling 7,026-yard semi-private golf course providing a venue of fast, undulating greens and lean sloping fairways with water in play on 11 holes.

Statistics	18-hole PGA Course	Tees	Yardage	Rating	Slope
	Par 70, 7,026-yard Course	Blue	7,026	71.3	131
	140 x 350-yard Driving Range	White	6,425	69.5	128
	Chipping Area	Gold	5,763	66.3	117

Signature Hole Description The 13th hole at The Inverness Golf Course is a demanding 418-yard Par 4. Standing in the box, golfers face a visually intimidating hole requiring a near perfect tee shot. With a medium-sized lake directly in front, golfers must carry the ball 150 yards to stay dry and 30 more yards to reach the fairway.

With a hazard running the entire length of the hole on the left side and out of bounds on the right, the tee shot must stay true. If the ball is pushed too far right on the drive, a small group of trees might block the shot to the green.

Players lucky enough to hit the fairway are often surprised to find that the challenge is not over. With a relatively shallow but wide green, choosing the correct iron for the second shot is imperative.

A small hazard fronting the green and a large cottonwood hanging over the left side make for safe play to the right half of the green, leaving a good change for a two-putt par.
